EARLHAM COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT 2022

About Earlham

Earlham today includes Earlham College, an undergraduate liberal arts college, the Earlham College Graduate Programs in Education, and the Earlham School of Religion.

Earlham's programs are informed by the distinctive perspectives and values of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers). We challenge ourselves to seek truth, wherever truth may lead, so that we may grow in both intellect and spirit as we prepare to lead and to serve in today's world.

Earlham's faculty work to awaken the "teacher within," encouraging students to become lifelong learners. Earlham students actively shape and influence their own education, both inside and outside the classroom. Together, we are an intentional community that seeks to make a difference in the world for good. We challenge one another to grow in our capabilities and commitment, and we seek to lead lives that demonstrate our guiding values.

The Graduate Programs in Education continue the Earlham tradition of excellence by preparing teachers who are student-centered. Education students are encouraged to enhance their unique pedagogical voices and draw on teaching strategies that encourage and excite learning in all students.

An Earlham School of Religion education is likewise shaped by Quaker principles and practices. A Christian graduate theological school in the Quaker tradition, ESR prepares students for leadership that empowers and ministry that serves. Using a transformative model of education, ESR encourages students to explore the intellectual, spiritual and practical dimensions of their calls to ministry.

The Academic Procession

A colorful aspect of the Commencement ceremony is the academic procession. Strong traditions govern the use of the caps, gowns and hoods worn by many members of the academic community in the formal ceremony today. The academic apparel worn at Earlham's Commencement dates back to the Middle Ages. Then, voluminous gowns were worn to ward off the damp and cold of medieval buildings, with mortar boards used as hats. When those styles were abandoned by laymen, clergy and scholars continued to wear the robes, with variations in style and color identifying different monastic orders.

From the three items of academic attire—the cap, gown and hood—it is possible to distinguish the institution from which the wearer was graduated, the field of learning in which the degree was earned, and the level of degree—bachelor, master or doctorate. The institution granting the degree is indicated by the colors of the lining of the hood. The degree is indicated by the width of the velvet trimming, becoming wider from bachelor's to master's to doctorate. The color of the velvet trimming indicates the discipline or field of study.

The academic disciplines of Earlham faculty, trustees and distinguished guests are represented by the following colors:

- Agriculture: Maize
- O Arts, Letters, Humanities: White
- Commerce, Business: Drab
- Economics: Copper
- Education: Light Blue
- Engineering: Orange
- Fine Arts: Brown

- Journalism: Crimson
- Law: Purple
- Library Science: Lemon
- Medicine: Green
- Music: Pink
- Nursing: Apricot
- Oratory: Silver Gray

- Philosophy: Dark Blue
- Physical Education: Sage Green
- Science: Golden Yellow
- Social Work: Citron
- Theology: Scarlet

Earlham Graduate Programs in Education

"It is worth acknowledging, in all humility, that, though there are many great, beautiful, noble callings for human beings—ministry, healing, protecting the powerless through the law, making art, music and literature, the most wonderful things that human beings are privileged to do—none of them is more valuable to the human race, to the future of the planet, or to our own souls, than the work of teaching."

- Professor Emeritus of English Paul Lacey

Earlham is proud to contribute to this valuable work through the Graduate Programs in Education. These programs are unique, as they focus on the discovery and renewal of the teacher within. Both the Master of Arts in Teaching and the Master of Education degrees are designed to be transformational for individuals who wish, in turn, to transform the lives of others. Both programs are grounded in Quaker principles including a respect for persons, integrity, simplicity, community, peace and justice. These values are manifested throughout both the Master of Arts in Teaching and the Master of Education programs.

Earlham School of Religion

Earlham School of Religion is a seminary community after the manner of Friends. Here, Friends and those from other traditions undertake formal theological study and ministry preparation. The School of Religion operates with its own dean and faculty and offers the Master of Arts, Master of Divinity and Master of Ministry degrees.

The presence of ESR in close association with Earlham College brings it in touch with many currents of contemporary intellectual life. As Earlham College is known nationally for its high academic standards, these same standards characterize ESR. Further enriching the ESR learning experience, a partnership with Bethany Theological Seminary began in 1994.

ESR assists students in developing a faith consistent with personal Christian revelation and religious experience. Students achieve competence in the biblical, historical and theological disciplines while developing practical skills and an empowering style of ministry. ESR students and faculty participate in the larger Christian community and its concern for the peoples of the world.

As a graduate center serving all Quakers, ESR develops Friends leadership for both programmed and unprogrammed meetings. The school provides a research and study center for Friends and encourages Friends' involvement in theological and cultural dialogue. While fostering unity in the Religious Society of Friends, ESR continues to clarify and sustain the Quaker vision.

A note on regalia

The practice of wearing academic regalia originated in the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities were taking form. Scholars, whether student or teacher, customarily wore the dress of a cleric. With few exceptions, these medieval scholars had taken orders, made certain vows, and perhaps been tonsured. Long gowns were worn, and hoods served to cover the tonsured head.

The American tradition of hooding extends approximately 100 years. The Earlham tradition began approximately 70 years ago, while the School of Religion's practice is about 40 years old. These hoods connect us with an honored tradition associated with intellectual and spiritual freedom.

The master's hood which we award today is three-and-one-half feet long. It is black in color, with two white stripes which distinguish it from a bachelor's or doctorate hood. The hood is trimmed with a scarlet border, signifying the theology degree. It is lined with fabric representing the institutional colors—in our case, maroon and white.

Message from the President

Dear Class of 2022.

Since 1847, generations of Earlham students have experienced a blend of classroom learning and experiential education that has transformed their lives—and the world—for good.

In all of Earlham's 175 years, however, few students have experienced the tumult that you have, nor have they shown the remarkable flexibility and dedication.

In your time here, you have not only earned a degree, you have also learned how to change course when the unexpected threatens to derail everything you've worked so hard for. Life is certainly like this at times, but nobody could have predicted what COVID had in store for Earlham or for you as students and global citizens.

At Earlham, we have long held the belief that your educational experience should be up close and personal. Together, we found ways to make that happen even in the face of hybrid and remote learning, social distancing, and virtual internship and research experiences.

In retrospect, that should not have come as a surprise. Earlhamites share an uncommon commitment to community. Masks, Zoom meetings and distance—whether 6 feet or 600 miles—can't change that.

As you graduate today, I hope you will reflect on your time at Earlham and the tremendous resilience you have demonstrated to get here today. The world will not only benefit from your knowledge and expertise, but also your ability to adapt to a time full of unpredictable twists and turns.

Congratulations and best wishes to you on this momentous day!

Anne Houtman, D.Phil.

lase affordma

President, Earlham College and Earlham School of Religion

Message from the Board

On behalf of the Earlham Board of Trustees, it is my privilege and pleasure to congratulate the graduating Class of 2022 of Earlham College, the Earlham School of Religion, and Earlham's Graduate Programs in Education. I also congratulate the family, friends and faculty who have supported the graduates on the way to this day.

Each year the Office of Admissions profiles the incoming class and shares the profile with the class at the beginning of their Earlham experience. The reports are both fun and full of promise. They invariably show an incoming class of people who will work hard, love well, play exuberantly, and extend to others both compassion and justice. Over the time you have been here these qualities have been refined, broadened as well as deepened. Although it has not always been comfortable or easy, you have grown in this hotbed of thought, reflection, argument and action we call Earlham.

I would like to share with you another profile. It is a profile of you in the future, say 10, 25 and 50 years from now. My confidence in seeing you in the future is based on your earlier profile, the special nature of Earlham and the hearing of the life stories of the fellow alumni who have preceded you. You will have lived lives that will have made a difference to your families, your communities and the world around you.

You will have been willing to see the world differently and thereby see solutions to problems that seem intractable. You will have been good shepherds for the society, the environment and the world we live in. You will have been innovators and agents for positive change. You will have been peacemakers.

As a trustee, I am always aware that Earlham is trying to prepare students to live in a world we can hardly imagine. Let us know where and how it should evolve toward the future. Come back to the warmth of the Earlham community frequently and add your life stories to our rich heritage. The College, School of Religion, and the Graduate Programs in Education will need your support to continue to offer future generations the educational excellence you have enjoyed.

Our hopes and wishes go with you. Congratulations.

Raymond F. Ontko '84 Chair, Board of Trustees

Message from the Alumni Council

Upon the occasion of your graduation, the Earlham College Alumni Association offers its praise for your accomplishment and welcomes you to its ranks. Your alumni association includes more than 18,000 living alumni of the College around the world, and we joyfully expand to include all of you in that blanket of Earlham influence that wraps gently around our planet.

As the newest members of the Alumni Association, we hope you will be proud emissaries for Earlham College and that you will actively engage with the broader Earlham community. Please return to campus as often as you can and sustain those friendships with classmates and faculty. We also invite you to connect with other alumni both socially and professionally wherever you go. In doing so, you will discover an assemblage of amazing individuals who apply their talents and education to engaging our world and making profound and positive differences.

Alumni are sometimes, naturally, tempted to regard Earlham through the dewy lens of the college as it was in their day, but if you remain engaged, you will keep pace with the College as it continues to evolve. Changes come, in big and little ways. Alumni generally believe they have had an essential experience of an Earlham education, yet it is the case that the Earlham experience of graduates from generations prior is as authentic as that of the Class of 2022's experience, but not the same. It should not be the same, it must not be, and it is right, fitting, and exciting, that it is not the same. We celebrate Earlham's fluidity across the years, the ability to remain utterly fueled by the breath, bodies, minds and spirits of its students, faculty and the staff in the "right now," in every "right now," in the preceding and succeeding histories of Earlham in the "right now."

With so much going on in the world, you may not be reflecting on your Earlham experience in its completeness, but alumni testify in the long view that they emerged from their Earlham education clearly knowing the ways in which that experience was tantamount to the unlocking of their minds and unfurling of their moral agency in the world that will guide their footsteps the rest of their days. For the rest of your days, one place we welcome you to call home is your Earlham Alumni Association.

FACULTY AND STAFF
RETIREMENTS and DEPARTURES

Teaching Faculty

MICHAEL BIRKEL

Michael Birkel has taught at Earlham since the 1980s, including over three decades in the Religion Department at the College and six years at the School of Religion. Over the years, he participated in many different student-faculty research projects, looking at how religion effects music, film and even Doctor Who. Michael enjoyed his work with the Office of Religious Life and the Newlin Quaker Center. At ESR, Michael brought new courses to the curriculum that embraced an interfaith dimension. He has been an active scholar, publishing nine books and numerous articles. Michael hopes to be remembered as a teacher, an advocate for Earlham's Quaker identity and a lover of the liberal arts.

JONATHAN DISKIN

Jonathan Diskin joined the faculty in 1989 with enthusiasm for Earlham's practice of situating disciplinary learning in interdisciplinary exchanges and for joining a community committed to taking the ethical implications of knowledge seriously. Through the ups and downs of more than thirty years, he continues to value these aspects of Earlham life and education. He is grateful for the learning he has done and contributed to, as well as for having been able to serve in a variety of roles. He looks forward to new forms of learning with others for fun and justice.

ANAND PARDHANANI

Anand Pardhanani started working at Earlham in the fall of 2007 as an assistant professor in the math department. After leaving Earlham, Anand intends to spend his time in various locations—including India, Thailand, Kasetsart University in Bangkok, and Chiang Mai University. He wants to thank all his colleagues and friends among Earlham's faculty and staff. They have helped make his 15 years at the College memorable and rewarding. He is going to miss Earlham students most of all.

NANCY TAYLOR

Nancy came to Earlham in 1981 as a reference librarian and soon after joined the Art Department. She taught fiber arts in Runyan Center, in the attic of Carpenter Hall, and now in the beautiful CVPA, and has taken great joy in learning alongside students the whole time. She has also seen the world with Earlham, leading nine semester-long programs to Kenya and Tanzania, several Wilderness programs and a number of shorter international trips with EC students and alumni. Earlham has given her the opportunity to grow, learn and teach, and she is deeply grateful for the wonderful students, colleagues and adventures that have filled her life here.

LONNIE VALENTINE

A graduate of the Earlham School of Religion, Lonnie Valentine completed his Ph.D. in constructive theology at Emory University before returning to ESR to teach in 1989. Throughout his studies and career, he has explored the connection between theology and work for social change. More than just a teacher, Lonnie made an impact with several different organizations, including serving as academic dean of ESR, interim director of the Peace Studies Association and many other roles over the years. He is also published many times over—from encyclopedias to book chapters. Lonnie most treasures his work with students and lively discussions with his colleagues at Bethany, the College and ESR.
